The growth of cycling, phenomenal as it has been in England and on the European continent generally, has nowhere, comparatively speaking, been so marked as in the United States. But little over a dozen years ago a few imported machines satisfied the American demand. Now, with home factories turning out from the highest to the lowest grade of machines, and running the year round, and with every English manufacturing house striving for and getting a share of the business, there is a difficulty in filling the orders which pour in constantly from a great public awaking to the fact that, what is a practical recreation is being thrown at their feet. In no State has the bicycle attained a greater hold than in Pennsylvania, and no city in the Union shows a greater cycling activity than Philadelphia. Even the metropolis, as New York has come to be looked upon, cannot muster the array of clubs and cycling organizations that the "Quaker City" can show. Three alone, of the Philadelphia cycling clubs, own real estate valued at nearly $150,000, and a dozen other clubs rent properties valued at half as much again, and the smaller clubs, with memberships under fifty, all occupy properties of more or less value. The above condition of things cycling, in Philadelphia, justifies the publication of this hand-book.

CLUB-HOUSE PHILADELPHIA BICYCLE CLUB.

The Philadelphia Bicycle Club.

The Philadelphia Bicycle Club was organized in 1879 and incorporated in 1885. The club-house is situated at Twenty-sixth and Perot streets, and is a four-story structure of red brick and brown-stone. The membership limit is two hundred, supplemented by what is termed a junior membership of young men under twenty-one years of age. Ladies are admitted as associate members. This Club enjoys the distinction of being the oldest cycling club in Philadelphia, and to it have belonged many prominent citizens. In the Philadelphia Cycle and Field Club at Ardmore, Pa., it possesses a country house which is much patronized by the members.

While individually the members of the Club do a great deal of riding, the pioneer club of the city has dropped into a staid sort of life that well befits the eldest born of Philadelphia's many cycling organizations, and from the composition of its membership it can be regarded as a cycling club most truly representative of all that is characteristic of the "Quaker City."

Frankford Bicycle Club.

The Frankford Bicycle Club ranks as the second oldest among Philadelphia cycling organizations, having been founded on August 3d, 1881, by a few enthusiastic riders in the busy and populous and extremely well cobbled region of the Quaker City known as Frankford. Notwithstanding many vicissitudes, and many topographical disabilities in the way of active riding, this club has tenaciously held on to life, while many other clubs, more fortuitously situated, succumbed to adverse fortunes. It was reorganized as a League club November 30th, 1883, and the meetings are held at members' houses.

CLUB-HOUSE, PENNSYLVANIA BICYCLE CLUB.

The Pennsylvania Bicycle Club.

The Pennsylvania Bicycle Club was organized in 1882 and incorporated in 1885.

The following are or were charter members of the organization : Eugene M. Aaron, William H. O'Keefe, Charles M. Miller, S. H. Crawford, George Van Vliet, and Arthur H. MacOwen, from which small beginning the club has grown to be one of the largest and most influential in the country. The club-house is located at 3940 Girard Avenue, at the entrance to the great concourse in West Fairmount Park. The edifice is constructed of gray brick and red stone, with copper facings, and shows a handsome front on Girard Avenue.

The membership is not limited, ladies are admitted as associate members, and there is a junior membership for young men under twenty-one. "Penny," to use a familiar club term, is noted for her activity on the road, for an eminently family kind of social life inside and outside the club-house all the year round, and for numerous enjoyable excursions made by specially-organized club parties during the riding season. The club emblem is a silver keystone on which appear the letters P. A.

The only kind we know how to do,

Pays well all round.

It's easy to test us.

COLLARS

No zig-zag, tornado edges to rasp necks to redness.

Linen CLEANED, not CRIPPLED.

The Century Wheelmen.

The Century Wheelmen was organized in 1886 and incorporated 1889. The club-house at 1606 North Broad Street is a large, handsome brown-stone building, purchased by the Club in 1889. The membership is limited to two hundred and ladies are not admitted as members, although a very social atmosphere is characteristic of the well-known "Centurions," and the many dances and other entertainments of this, the premier up-town cycling organization, are noted for the presence of the youth and beauty that is the boast of "up-town." The membership is now above the limit, and being quartered in the region of Philadelphia's best pavements, there is no difficulty experienced in keeping the membership roll up to the top notch. The club emblem is a century plant, a wheel, and the words "Century Wheelmen" or the letters "C. W."

THE 39 X 30 ROVER STAR.

IN this Machine we have ALL the advantages of a low wheel, and the speed and comfort of the high one.

As a HILL CLIMBER

and for all-around use on the road, it has no equal.

NO CHAINS. NO GEARS.

Variable stroke. The perfection of superiority and economy of power.

South-End Wheelmen.

The South-End Wheelmen was organized in 1886, the charter members being John J. Bradley, George Caryl, J. R. Lincoln Edwards, George Geistweit, W. W. Roberts, and Samuel Jackson, Jr. The club-house is situated at 1726 South Broad Street, but plans are in the hands of the Club for a new house which it purposes building. This Club is the representative one of the southern section of the city, where it has grown wonderfully since 1886. The Club emblem is a wheel with an arrow pointing through it to the right.

GROUP OF MT. VERNON WHEELMEN.

Mount Vernon Wheelmen.

The Mount Vernon Wheelmen organized March 2d, 1888, since which date they have not only held their own as one of the leading cycling clubs in the city, but have met with more than the ordinary share of good fortune falling to the average bicycle club. Up to May of the present year they occupied the premises 2136 Mount Vernon Street, but now have larger and more comfortable quarters at the north-east corner of Mount Vernon and Twelfth Streets.

COLONEL ALBERT A. POPE.

THE BELLEVUE.

WAYNE STATION,
DELAWARE CO., PA.
MAIN LINE PENNA., R. R.

30 minutes from Philadelphia, Broad Street Station. Only 3 minutes walk from Wayne Station. 34 trains each way, daily.

The favorite suburban stopping place of the representative City Cycling Clubs.

THE BELLEVUE stands upon an elevation of over 400 feet above tide-water, and is known as the most healthful locality in the vicinity of Philadelphia. The wide expanse of valley surrounding the Bellevue tempers the summer heat by a cool breeze, making the surroundings delightful and refreshing. The rooms are handsomely furnished, and a private porch attached to each. The house is thoroughly heated by steam, with the most improved system, making the same temperature throughout. Open fireplaces in parlors, card rooms, smoking rooms, billiard and pool hall, gas, electric bells, baths on each floor. Broad and ample porches surround the entire building; laundry on the premises; music during the season; beautiful lawns, croquet grounds, lawn tennis courts, pure spring water from the finest spring in Delaware county, and the best system of sanitary arrangements known; good stabling.

The Bellevue commands an excellent patronage, and for its superior accommodations the charges are moderate. Upon application the proprietor will cheerfully furnish any information regarding rates, etc.

Park Avenue Wheelmen.

June 13th, 1889, was the auspicious date upon which this phenomenally successful cycling club was founded, since which date it has gone steadily forward on the road of success. The club-house is located at 1832 Park Avenue, where many a jolly time has been spent by the pre-eminently jolly Park Avenue boys and their many friends. The colors are black and lemon yellow, and the uniform is black trimmed with black braid.

CLUB-HOUSE QUAKER CITY WHEELMEN.

Quaker City Wheelmen.

The Quaker City Wheelmen, than whom no Club ever formed in Philadelphia have attracted more attention from their activity on the road and from the extraordinary growth of the organization from small beginnings and in a short time, were organized January 20th, 1890, and incorporated in November of the same year. They occupy a large and comfortable house at 1400 Oxford Street, conveniently located in regard to the asphalt pavements which have contributed so much to the growth of cycling in the northern section of the city. The colors of the Club are crimson and white and the uniform is gray trimmed with black braid, and black stockings.

Outing Wheelmen.

The Outing Wheelmen is one of the few clubs located south of Market Street, which street, in a cycling sense, seems to be the "Mason and Dixon's line" of Philadelphia, the laying of good pavements in the northern section of the city fostering the growth of riding there to an extent way ahead of what the southern section can show.

The Club was organized February 5th, 1890, and the club-house is at 1226 South Fifteenth Street. The uniform is black and the colors are white and gold. A silver wheel with a club running diagonally through it constitutes the club emblem.

Clover Wheelmen.

When a man, or in fact any animal, gets "in clover," he is generally supposed to be well off, and this holds good when a cyclist joins the active and select little coterie of riders known as the "Clover Wheelmen." This organization was formed in West Philadelphia, March 10th, 1890. It has a small roster for choice, and now admits ladies to active membership. The club-house is over the Park Rink Riding School at Belmont and Elm Avenues, West Philadelphia. Club colors are orange, light blue, and carmine, and the uniform is gray.

The Associated Cycling Clubs of Philadelphia.

The credit for the formation of the Associated Cycling Clubs, which is a federation of the most important Philadelphia cycling organizations, belongs to the Philadelphia Bicycle Club, who in January, 1888, called a meeting of representatives from the Philadelphia, Germantown, Pennsylvania, Tioga, Century, and South-End Clubs to arrange for the formation of what is now an institution of cycling Philadelphia. The Association was formally organized in March, 1888, with W. R. Tucker, President; Wm. D. Supple, Jr., Vice-President; and J. R. Lincoln Edwards, Secretary. The officers still remain the same with the exception that P. S. Collins fills the office of Vice-President in place of William D. Supplee, Jr., resigned. The following Clubs compose the organization: Philadelphia Bicycle Club, Pennsylvania Bicycle Club, Century Wheelmen, Tioga Cycling Club, South-End Wheelmen, Mount Vernon Wheelmen, Oxford Wheelmen, Wissahickon Wheelmen, Columbia Cyclers, Quaker City Wheelmen, Park Avenue Wheelmen.

Belmont Cyclers.

This organization came into existence in 1890. The exact date of its formation was March 27th, when six gentlemen met together, and "Belmont" became an entity.

The club-house is located at 3527 Smedley Street, Tioga, therefore the organization may be counted among the galaxy of up-town wheel clubs. The uniform is blue and the club colors are red and violet.

IN ANCIENT ROME

It was the custom to place the statues of the most eminent citizens in the Forum. There was, however, one notable exception, and strangers, after looking around, would exclaim, "but where is Cato?" The answer was that he was too great and good to be put among the others. He was conspicuous by his absence. So it was intended that in this book the Paragon Safety, the acknowledged leader of American Machines, should be known by its absence. Yielding, however, to our friends, we take pleasure in illustrating it, and shall be glad to furnish a catalogue free to all.

“THE PARAGON.”

Extract from “Margery’s” letter in THE AMERICAN ATHLETE, May 22d, 1891 :

“I do not know how often I am asked which is the best ladies’ bicycle. It is a hard question to answer, as each and every one has several merits of its own. I intend, however, trying several in order to better answer, or attempt an answer, and give a reason for it. For one thing, I think when American manufactures are as good as the imported, they should be given the preference. In this product my observation has been that they are better in the majority of cases.

“The first wheel I have taken is the ‘Paragon,’ which I have been riding for the last two weeks. It has a cushion-tire, and a nicer riding wheel it would be difficult to find. It is a low-built machine, having equal-sized wheels (28-inch), centre brake, soft rubber handles, and dress-guard formed of strips of raw-hide which adds to its lightness without detracting from its use. The cranks are the proper length for a lady (6-inches), the wheel weighs from 38 to 40 pounds and is highly adjustable. The special feature of the ‘Paragon,’ however, is the heavy coiled spring supporting the saddle. I had my ‘Garford’ put on this wheel, and the combination of the two renders riding as luxurious as in a carriage with plenty of springs. The ease with which it run delighted me, as well as every one else who tried it. The ‘Paragon’ is becoming very popular in this city, and it deserves to be. It is a graceful, easy-running, light wheel, well made, and of good, home manufacture.”

Fairmount Lady Cyclers.

After two enthusiastic meetings, the Fairmount Lady Cyclers was formally organized on April 5th, 1890, at 1602 Park Avenue. In August the Century Wheelmen extended an invitation to the ladies to hold their business meetings in the parlor of the Century club-house, which invitation was accepted. This is the only exclusively ladies' club in the city. Upon its formation, predictions were rife that six months, or at most a year, would see the close of its existence; but to-day it is stronger than ever, with a membership roll increasing at every meeting. The Club has no special uniform, but its members are known by the bow of orange ribbon on their wheels, and the gold pin "Fairmount" on their caps. During the winter monthly socials were held at the houses of the members, and the social season was closed by a dance on April 20th. The Fairmount Lady Cyclers have two evening runs a week, and one on Saturday afternoon. Much of the success of the organization is due to the enthusiasm of its President and Captain, Miss E. A. Dunbar and Mrs. C. W. Dalsen.

OWEN E. LALLY,
President Referee Wheelmen.

Referee Wheelmen.

This most successful organization dates its career from July, 1890. It is the outcome of the enthusiasm and active riding proclivities of a number of up-town riders, who, preferring to found a new association instead of joining those already in existence, linked efforts a little less than a year ago, with the result that a new and most successful cycling club raised its head up-town, and now is in the front rank of cycling in the Quaker City. The club-house is situated at the south-east corner of Seventeenth and Diamond Streets, on the direct line of asphalt travel to the Park. The uniform is gray with black trimmings, and the club color is red.

The Time Wheelmen.

TIME WHEELMEN, PHILADELPHIA.

This extremely active, and therefore successful Club, was only formed October 2d, 1890, and yet it has a membership that in point of numbers and make-up compares favorably with that of many older organizations. The club address is 1524 Vine Street, and the uniform is blue, and club colors orange, lilac, and black.

It is a feature of the organization that ladies are admitted to active membership, and the Club is therefore a popular one among members of the fair sex. From present appearances the Time Wheelmen promise to become a large and influential Club.

Photography

IS THE TWIN BROTHER OF

Procrastination,

It is the "thief of time."

WHY?

BECAUSE it steals alike from nature and from art, and preserves for us what might be lost if we trusted to memory alone.

Therefore, we wish to make it known that we will not only photograph whatever you desire, but will also develop and print from amateurs' negatives. Also make lantern slides and color them to order.

We also make and publish stereoscopic views.
